The screenshot shows the 'New Create Records' dialog box in Salesforce. At the top, there's a title bar with 'New Create Records'. Below it, a subtitle reads 'Create Salesforce records using values from the flow.' The main form has two input fields: 'Label' with the value 'Create Contact' and 'API Name' with the value 'Create_Contact'. There's a large 'Description' text area below them. Further down, under 'How Many Records to Create', the 'One' option is selected. Under 'How to Set the Record Fields', the 'Use separate lookups, and insert values' option is selected. At the bottom, there's a section 'Create a Record of This Object' with a dropdown menu showing 'Search Objects...'. On the right side of the dialog, there are 'Cancel' and 'Done' buttons.
